UD HONORS TRUSTEES

DAYTON, Ohio, October 14, 1981 -- In November 1970 the amended Articles of Incorporation which established the current governing structure of the University of Dayton became effective. The Board of Trustees was reconstituted to assure membership by Marianists, UD alumni, and Dayton community leaders in the years to come. The Board has 30 members.

In 1979 the University recognized 25 former board members as its first Honorary Trustees.

On Thursday night the University will honor ten persons appointed Honorary Trustees during 1980 and 1981. Honored will be: Virginia Kettering Kampf, Stanley Z. Greenberg, Brother Stanley G. Mathews, S.M., William P. Sherman, James J. Gilvary, H. Talbott Mead, Bette Rogge Morse, Brother Anthony J. Ipsaro, S.M., R. Stanley Laing, and Hugh E. Wall.

Mrs. Kampf and Mrs. Morse share the distinction of being the first women on the UD Board of Trustees.

Mr. Mead was the first chairman of the UD Board of Trustees under its current constitution.

Mr. Greenberg is the only current trustee in the group. He recently began a new three-year term after serving nine years previously. Mr. Greenberg is also chairman of the Board of Visitors of the UD Law School.

Certificates recognizing their designation as Honorary Trustees of the University of Dayton will be presented by John F. Torley, chairman of the UD Board of Trustees, at a 7 p.m. dinner in the John F. Kennedy Memorial Union.
